in DG ESTAT of the European Commission

Job title: Statistical Officer

Domain: Economics, Finance and Statistics

Where: Unit C3 – Statistics for administrative purposes, Luxembourg

Function Group: FG IV

Contract Type: 3b

Express your interest until: 06.11.2025 - 12.00 (noon, Brussels time)

WE ARE

Eurostat, one of the Directorates-General of the European Commission, is the statistical office of the European Union. Eurostat's mission is to provide high quality statistics and data on Europe.

Eurostat co-ordinates statistical activities at Union level and more particularly inside the Commission.

ESTAT Unit C3 “Statistics for administrative purposes” is the provider of high-quality statistical services needed to develop, implement and evaluate policies relating to the EU's GNI/VAT own resources and to the remunerations and pensions of EU staff. The subject-matter covered by the unit has a direct end-use and is politically sensitive.

The Remuneration Team currently comprises 7 persons and is the leading provider of high quality statistics to monitor public sector remuneration and its evolution, the spatial purchasing power of international officials, and other related issues. This involves all aspects of the collection, processing, dissemination and analysis of data as well as conceptual and methodological developments. Eurostat chairs an Expert Working Group meeting every year, and works in close collaboration with Member State NSIs and other statistical authorities and a number of partner International Organisations. The legal basis of the work is mainly to be found in the Staff Regulations (Articles 64 & 65, Annex X and XI) and a trilateral Memorandum of Understanding with the UN and the OECD.

The main stakeholders for the results are DG HR and DG BUDG. In accordance with the current Staff Regulations the team calculates the annual salary adjustment of all EU officials (permanent and temporary staff) and the correction coefficients for staff working outside headquarters duty stations (Intra-EU and Extra-EU). The team's reports get high attention by internal end-users and also attract interest from external users, including the media and political delegates in Council and Parliament – notably during periodic discussions about EU governance and reform of remuneration policy – and a number of international organisations. Standard indicators are published on the Eurostat free data website for use by other interested parties.

Further information about the work of the Remuneration Team is available on Eurostat website Dedicated Section pages Overview - Civil servants remuneration - Eurostat (europa.eu).

WE PROPOSE

We propose a post for a Statistical Officer (contract agent FG IV) to work in the section dealing with the calculation of correction coefficients for the adjustment of staff remuneration in duty stations outside Brussels and Luxembourg.

Under the supervision of the team leader and in collaboration with colleagues, the official would be co-responsible for a number of interesting tasks, initially relating to the calculation of correction coefficients depending on living conditions in different places of employment outside the EU.

The successful candidate will manage all production steps from the design of questionnaires, including launch of surveys, liaison with partner organisations, collection and processing of microdata, review and validation of the results, integration for the calculation of indicators, database management, through to dissemination of analytical tables in Eurostat Reports and on the Eurostat website, including drafting of those reports.

The job involves a high degree of autonomy and responsibility, together with collaborative team work. Occasional participation in fieldwork may be required. There are also tasks related to contract management and legal procedures. Appropriate training opportunities will allow evolution in the role. It is expected that the candidate will contribute to methodological development and for the continuous work on improving the statistics production processes.

WE LOOK FOR

This is a politically sensitive domain, and can involve the handling of restricted and/or confidential data. Candidates will be expected to demonstrate the highest standards of discretion and competence.

We look for a service-oriented colleague with good organisational skills and team spirit. The ability to work accurately against tight deadlines is important since the policy environment is both dynamic and demanding.

He/she should have a background in economics and/or statistics and/or finance or audit, with an interest in labour market issues. Knowledge of index theory and survey techniques would be an asset, together with prior experience in the domain of price statistics (purchasing power parities, consumer price indices) or social statistics (household income and expenditure). Familiarity with Excel is essential, and experience with R will be a welcomed asset. A methodical approach with great attention to detail is essential. Communication skills are important. The unit is small; a good team spirit is essential.

The main working language is English. Good oral communication and drafting skills at both the technical and non-technical level will be important.

A positive orientation towards continuous learning, external trainings and learning tools (see the Massive Open Online Courses various platforms) is encouraged.
