Case Handler – Trade Defence Instruments

Directorate-General for Trade and Economic Security (DG TRADE) of the European Commission

Selection reference: TRADE/COM/2026/1717

Domain: External relations

Where: Unit TRADE.G.5 – “Investigations IV. Relations with third countries”, Brussels

Staff category and Function Group: Temporary agent 2b –Assistant

Grade range: AST1-3

Publication deadline: 04/09/2026 - 12.00 (Brussels time)

WE ARE

DG Trade and Economic Security leads the EU's common commercial policy, one of the exclusive competences of the EU. Trade policy plays a critical role in enhancing the EU's economic competitiveness, shaping globalisation, and defending the EU from unfair trade practices and threats to its economic security.

As an important part of its trade policy, the EU makes use of available autonomous tools such as the EU Trade Defence Instruments (TDIs) (anti-dumping, anti-subsidy and safeguards). These tools protect our citizens and industries against unfair trade practices at international level – their increased use in recent years, in a changing global context, is a testimony of a more assertive European Union, necessary to put globalisation to good account and to ensure a level playing field in international trade. The EU policy of TDIs and their implementation and execution are centralized in Directorate G of DG Trade and Economic Security, under the supervision of the Chief Trade Enforcement Officer.

Unit TRADE.G.5 is composed of some 30 colleagues working in three different sections. Two sections are responsible for carrying out anti-dumping and anti-subsidy investigations against unfairly priced imports into the EU. A third section is in charge of safeguard policy and investigations, as well as monitoring third countries' trade defence actions against the EU.

WE PROPOSE

Unit TRADE.G.5 is seeking to recruit an Assistant Case Handler who will, as part of a team, contribute to all aspects of trade defence investigations, from initiation up to the adoption of appropriate remedies under the rules established in the anti-dumping, anti-subsidy and safeguard regulations.

Typical tasks include contributing to: the collection and verification of relevant economic and financial data from different stakeholders (producers, traders, users, industry associations, law firms), both within and outside the EU; the calculation of dumping/subsidy/injury margins and the related anti-dumping, countervailing duties or safeguard measures; the analysis of micro- and macro-economic injury indicators; the drafting of proposals for remedies and their relevant implementing acts; and the disclosure of the investigation findings to interested parties, together with their defence before the representatives of EU Member States.

Extensive contacts with EU producers, exporters in third countries and their legal representatives, regular teamwork, as well as travelling in the EU and to third countries are important features of this post.

In this position, the jobholder will see the results of his/her work in a very tangible way, such as ensuring through concrete border measures a level playing field for EU industries and protecting EU jobs against unfair competition or against sudden, increased import competition threatening the viability of the Union industry. The position also offers a unique window into the details of how key industries operate in the global economy, as well as an excellent opportunity for professional and personal growth.

WE LOOK FOR

We are looking for a dynamic and motivated colleague willing to build up the knowledge and skills needed to carry out trade defence investigations and to travel on business trips, that may occasionally exceed two weeks.

The candidate should be an excellent team player, as trade defence investigations are always conducted in teams of at least two case-handlers, supervised by a Head of section. Investigating teams also make use of the extensive knowledge and expertise available in the Trade Defence Directorate of DG Trade, where the working atmosphere and interaction are excellent and truly cooperative.

The ideal candidate should have solid economic, accounting or auditing skills, as well as demonstrated relevant work experience. Prior involvement in investigations or verifications would be a very strong asset. The successful candidate should also combine excellent analytical skills with a strong sense of initiative and the ability to work under pressure to meet strict legal deadlines on several investigations at the same time. He/she should have very strong data analysis skills, be proficient with Excel and willing to master and use in-house developed tailor-made software. A very good command and drafting skills in English are required. Knowledge of other EU or third country languages would be an asset.

In view of the specific requirements needed for the job, DG Trade and Economic Security provides a mandatory two-week introduction course on trade defence instruments for new colleagues joining Directorate G, as well as several other internal courses, including training on the use of specific software, tailored to the needs of our staff.
