WE ARE

The Directorate-General for Interpretation (SCIC) facilitates the EU's democratic decision-making process by providing high quality conference interpretation to EU institutions, bodies and agencies and by delivering corporate conference organisation and meeting room management services across the Commission.

Directorate B (Interpretation Services Management and Professional Support) manages provision of interpretation in EU institutions by i) helping attract talent and train future interpreters ii) programming teams of staff and freelance interpreters to meetings serviced by DG SCIC, iii) ensuring client interface and support to interpreters with documentation and terminology and iv) administering the interinstitutional pool of freelance interpreters. Unit B2, in charge of Programming of Interpretation, coordinates and manages the provision of interpretation in meetings of the Commission, the European Council, the Council of the EU, the European Economic and Social Committee, the Committee of the Regions as well as other agencies and bodies of the European Union.

The unit is located in Brussels. It is a central unit in the DG interacting with a wide range of interlocutors, be it externally with our customer Institutions or internally with other units within Directorate B, with the Interpreters Directorate, the Resources and corporate services Directorate, interpreters themselves and staff representatives. The unit is currently staffed with 29 colleagues and a group of interpreters providing ad-hoc assistance. The Head of Unit is supported by a Deputy Head of Unit, and three Heads of Sector.

Within Unit B2, the ACI recruitment sector plays a central role in contributing to ensure availability of a sufficient number of interpreters, thanks to the recruitment of Auxiliary Conference Interpreters (ACIs) to complement the permanent staff interpreters assigned to meetings and time management of staff interpreters in line with the specific framework that applies to them. This is a central operation to SCIC's activities since ACIs account for around 50% of all interpretation provided. It involves some 50 000 contract days being issued in an average year and annual expenditure of up to EUR 50 million.

WE PROPOSE

You will deal with a variety of tasks in the area of freelance interpreters' recruitment. You will be responsible for recruiting the needed ACIs to cover demand for given dates and languages and for assessing and processing staff interpreters' absence requests and work patterns. You are a dynamic, result-driven colleague, with excellent organisational skills, able to work autonomously and to deliver high-quality results. You know how to analyse data and effectively use these for future planning. As you will be in regular contact with a wide range of stakeholders, especially interpreters and meeting organisers, you will need good communication and interpersonal skills, which will allow you to smoothly integrate the team where members work closely together.

Occasionally, you must be ready to work within tight deadlines when dealing with last-minute requests.

Experience with provision of interpretation services in the context of the EU Institutions, and in particular in the recruitment of freelance interpreters, is an asset.

Our Unit works in English and French.
